

Lisa M. Gables

Chief Financial Officer & Chief Development Officer

Lisa Gables is an association executive with extensive experience in health care and aging services. She is the Chief Financial Officer and Chief Development Officer for the American Academy of Physician Assistants (AAPA), responsible for fostering external strategic outreach to individuals and like-minded organizations. She is also responsible for developing and implementing an overarching and integrated strategy that generates opportunities to provide the PAF and AAPA funding to support their missions.

Prior to joining AAPA and the PA Foundation, Gables was the executive director of the American Society of Consultant Pharmacists (ASCP) Foundation and the chief development officer of ASCP where she was responsible for similar roles. Before that she was the executive director of the National Adult Day Services Association, where she increased awareness of adult day services with federal regulators while managing all aspects of the association's operations. Prior to that, she was the chief financial officer of the National Council on the Aging and vice president of finance and business development for Active Services Corporation, the nation's largest adult day services, home care and rehabilitation network.

Gables also served as finance manager and senior financial analyst for Birmingham Baptist Medical Center and held financial positions with ReLife, Inc. and Ernst & Young. She is a certified public accountant with a degree in business administration and accounting from the University of Louisville, KY.
